

STATE ESPIONAGE LAW UPHELD BY HIGH COURT

Supreme Court Affirms Minnesota Decision Against N-P Organizer.

TWO JUSTICES DISAGREE

Principle of Free Speech Endangered, Justice Brandeis Believes.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The states can enact war-time espionage laws, the supreme court today decided.

It held constitutional a law of Minnesota, enacted to prevent interference with the enlistment of men in the military forces of the United States. The law was attacked by Joseph Gilbert,
who was convicted under it because of an alleged anti-war speech. He was fined $500 and sentenced to one year's imprisonment.

Justice McKenna, in delivering the opinion of the court, declared that it was a "work of patriotism" for the states to assist the federal government in all work of prosecuting a war, and could not be held repugnant to the constitution.

He held that American citizens have duties both in the United States and the states, since they are citizens
of both.

The court's decision was seven to two.

Chief Justice White dissented on the ground that the right to enact espionage
laws was an exclusive power of congress. Justice Brandeis dissented on the grounds that the measure was also a peace time infringement of free speech.

McKenna's opinion was a scathing
indictment of Gilbert's speeches claiming that to grant him protection would be "a travesty on the constitution."

Gilbert was an organizer for the Non-Partisan league.

"This act is not a war time measure,
but makes the preaching of pacifism
a crime in times of profound peace,"
said Justice Brandeis in his dissenting opinion.

His Free Speech.

"It takes away from a citizen the right to stay in peace time what his conscience tells him is the truth."

Brandeis' main thought was that the law could be construed to prevent the teachings of the principles of peace.

"If a man should desire to teach
his children that sorrow and suffering
are the results of war, has the state
the right to say that he may not?"
Brandeis asked.

He criticized in sharp terms McKenna's opinion because it took occasion to denounce as false Gilbert's statements as to why the United States entered the war.

The federal government cannot prosecute the twenty-five men who
"depicted" 231 I. W. W. from Bisbee, Ariz. in July, 1917, the supreme court
decided today.

The action affirms the judgment of an Arizona district court that federal statutes are not applicable to those who drove out the I. W. W. from Bisbee to New Mexico in such a sensational way that it attracted the attention of the entire country.

St. Paul.—When the supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of the Minnesota espionage act, it probably clinched sentences in a number of cases pending.

Constitution of C. C. Townley, president of the national Non-Partisan league and Joseph Gilbert, former organizer, on a charge of violating the state espionage act in Jackson county,
is now pending in the state supreme court. Each was sentenced to ninety days in jail by the Jackson county court. Their appeal is scheduled to be heard in the state supreme court next Tuesday.

Winnipeg, Man. — R. B. Russell, Winnipeg labor leader, sentenced to two years in the Stony Mountain penitentiary for seditious conspiracy, was released on parole Saturday afternoon
by orders of the federal department of justice.

Serving three hundred fifty days of his two year sentence, Russell is the first of the strike leaders convicted in connection with the Winnipeg strike of 1919 to enjoy freedom. Although rumors continue to be circulated in labor circles that William J. Lyons, W. A. Pritchard, G. Armstrong,
John Queen and R. J. Johns, each serving a one year sentence at the provincial prison farm, will also be released, local authorities deny all knowledge of such contemplated ac-

GREEN BAY AUTO IN DITCH NEAR DEPERE

James Francois and Franz Schneider,
Green Bay, narrowly escaped
death Saturday night when a Hudson couplet car, driven by Francois, and owned by his employer, W. S. King, Green Bay, skidded into a ditch and returned on the DePerre concrete road. The car crashed through a wooden fence enclosing a cemetery on the river side of the road and turned turtle. The occupants escaped with minor bruises.

At the King home it was stated that permission had been given to Francois
to use the car.

Milwaukee Legislators Plan to

"Dry" Law.

Milwaukee.—While awaiting word
from members of the Wisconsin congressional delegation, concerning its resolution unanimously adopted by a federal grand jury here, favoring light wines and beer, Milwaukee members of the state legislature today were planning for prohibition amendment action in the Wisconsin assembly.

The state legislature meets at Madison in January and efforts may be made to memorialize congress in behalf of Representative John C. Klecksa's efforts to secure light wines and beers.

A meeting of Milwaukee members of the assembly will be held Tuesday evening at which time the liquor problem will be taken up.

Assemblyman Leander J. Pierson, will present a resolution which he plans to introduce in the legislature
memorializing congress on the liquor question for approval of the delegation to come pending.

Despite the claim of the grand jury
that prohibition was a failure probi-tion-enforcement agents declared there was less liquor traffic here now than ever before. They declared that this "New Years would be very dry" and that even the old slogan "bring your own bottle" will not be effective
this year.

Genoa.—The German government
today presented a new note to the assembly of the league of nations refusing to recognize the decision of the council of the league regarding the award of Eupen and Malmedy, formerly German territory, to Belgium.

The districts of Eupen and Malmedy, small parts of West Prussia
surrounding towns of the same names, were taken away from Germany under the treaty of Versailles.

The league assembly today began consideration of plans for an international tribunal, submitted by a commission of three members.

M. Leon Bourgeois, French delegate, presented the commission's report.

Acknowledgment was made of the part played in drafting the tribunal
plan by Elihu Root.

President-Elect May Reject
Senate Advice on Ap-

By Raymond Clapper
Marion, Ohio.—Pressure on President-elect Harding to save the framework of the league of nations by offering to enter it on safeguarding conditions increased today with the arrival here of Elihu Root, one of the most influential figures in the republican party and a staunch supporter of the league.

Root planned to describe to Harding
the organization of the world court under the auspices of the league in which he participated a few months ago.

He was also expected to outline to Harding the extent to which European powers could be expected to go in making concessions to American public opinion in striking out of Article 10, jurisdiction over immigration and other domestic questions and interpretation of the Monroe doctrine.

Rev. William Wesley Hill, New York minister, was also scheduled to speak.

May Bring "Show-Down"

Root is being strongly urged by certain leaders in the party for secretary of state. Harding, however, has not displayed any inclination to view Root
so favorably as some of his advisers
would desire and it is a possibility that the first "show-down" between Harding and the so-called "senate oligarchy" may come over the question of appointing Root.

Root's appearance here today served to back up the pro-league arguments
made before Harding by Herbert Hoover.
Hughes is understood to have outlined essentially the same view. William J. Bryan this week will also bring a kind word for the league.

Ex-President Taft comes later for the same purpose.

Hoover's talk with Harding threw light on several problems which will face the new administration. They discussed the cabinet, the league, the labor situation, the plight of the farmers and Europe's chaotic industrial situation.

Hoover's view is that the framework
of the league must be utilized though with changes demanded by the American public.

Argentina Denies

South American Country Continues Fight for Consideration of Its Plan.

Buenos Aires.—"Argentina will insist on consideration of the amendments proposed by Foreign Minister Puerriddon as long as she has any thing to do with the league of nations," Dr. Pablo Torrello, minister of public works, and acting foreign minister of Argentina, declared today
in a statement to the United Press.

Dr. Torrello's statement was the first official pronouncement given to the press since Argentina's withdrawal from the assembly of the league of nations at Geneva.

He ridiculed the idea given utterance by some persons in Europe, that Argentina withdrew from the assembly because of her alleged friendliness for Germany or because she had been influenced in any way by Germany or Germans.

The future course of Argentine regarding the league, he said, would not be decided until Foreign Minister Puerriddon's official report had been received.

unofficial observer for President-elect Harding, was one of the assembly's guests when Bourgeois began reading his report. Bourgeois outlined the commission's plans for establishment of a tribunal with headquarters at The Hague. He said the court will comprise eleven judges with four deputies to meet in annual session there.

Labor cases, he explained, will be heard by a special chamber of five judges to be appointed by the court.
Similar provisions were made for the hearing of transportation and communication disputes.

A majority vote of the judges will decide all cases, according to the draft presented to the league. In case of a tie the president of the tribunal
will cast the deciding vote.

Participation in the tribunal by the United States is provided for in the draft read by Bourgeois. It expressly admitted to the court nations which are not members of the league.

PARENTS ARE PUNISHED FOR GIRL'S ROMANCE

By United Press Leased Wire
Passaic, N. J.—The little Dutch community here, as much a part of the Old World as The Netherlands itself, apparently went stolidly about its business today, but under the surface calm there was a seething current of gossip and speculation about the latest turn to the naive romance
of the president and the choir girl.

Public excommunication yesterday
of the parents of the girl, Miss Trina Hannanberg from the First Netherlands church, of which the preacher,
the Rev. Cornelius Densel, was the titular head in this county, provided food for comment by the good wives
and younger members of the congregation.

The preacher and the girl first returned together last week from a month's joint absence, presumably in Canada. The parishioners were divided in sentiment regarding the culpability of the principals.

One faction continued to regard the whole affair as an act of God, with neither Densel nor Miss Hannanberg responsible. The ones holding this belief argued that the dominie should be returned to his pulpit. There were others who felt that the girl and her family were responsible for the romance and who accepted Densel's explanation that he returned to his wife and eight children as soon as God had pointed out to him his error on the streets of Buffalo.

These held that the expulsion of
Mr. and Mrs. Marinus Hannanberg from the church was only justice. Still others, and these included the majority of men in the congregation, declared that the minister should also be read out of the church.

So far as known, Densel has not left the parsonage since he was welcomed back with open arms by his family. Miss Hannanberg also remained in seclusion.

Mrs. Densel, who had refused to add to her original statement that she had forgiven her husband, was reported to be suffering from a nervous breakdown.

The future status of Densel may be determined at a meeting of the church consistory tonight. It was generally believed a divorce had started. Miss Hannanberg had been in Holland and that the local pulpit would be occupied by the dominie of one of the nearby churches or one of the elders.

Los Angeles.—Police today were searching for the murderer and attempting to establish the identity of a young woman whose nude and mutilated body was found last Saturday
under the eaves and brush of a lonely grove of eucalyptus trees a short distance beyond the end of a street car line.

The face was hacked beyond recognition. A blood stained suitcase full of woman's clothes and a large quantity of jewelry was found today about one hundred feet from where the body was discovered.

The woman, under, dark and perhaps 35 years of age apparently had been dead several days.

Finding of the jewelry, which included 164 strings of synthetic pearls containing more than ten thousand separate pearls and nine four sterling silver bar pins, gave rise to the belief she may have been killed by a band of thieves.

The isolated place where the body was found is close to a spot which,
because of the many robberies there in the past few years, has been called
"The den of forty thieves."

The body evidently was that of a woman of refinement. Her teeth were in good condition. Her hands were slender and tapering.

Among articles of jewelry found in the bundle nearby were two silver bracelets set with brilliant seven gold plated bracelets and a silver wrist watch.

Some of the jewelry had been purchased in Chicago. In the suitcase was a partial section of a Chicago paper.

WOMEN WANT QUICK ACTION ON THEIR BILL

New Voters Seek $4,000,000

MEETING WITH SUPPORT

Veteran Congressmen Willing to

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1920)

Washington.—When the American
woman left "her place in the home"
on election day she paved the way for the adoption of a piece of legislation that will do more for the home perhaps than any one law in American history. Early next week congress will consider the first legislative proposal made by the women of America
since universal suffrage was granted.
Not only have the women done the unprecedented thing of asking for a relatively insignificant appropriation—only four million dollars—but they have pointed out how that four million dollars can be of as much or more benefit to the American nation
as any other four million dollars in the whole federal budget of four billion dollars.

Briefly, the women ask that the federal government, in co-operation with the states of the union, shall educate young mothers in the maternity period so that they will not only have the proper knowledge of hygiene before and after the birth of their children but in needy cases nurses
and physicians shall be ready to come to their aid instantly. Not only have some pitiful cases of neglect in country districts especially come to the attention of the women who have investigated four million dollars—but they show that America lost 250,000 infants
last year or a total of 20,000 a month
most of whom have been saved
by proper attention. Indeed in 1918, 23,000 mothers died from causes that could have been prevented. Fully 30 per cent of the cases investigated in different cases show that lack of care
was the principal reason for death.

U. S. Is Lagging

America has been far behind in this kind of social legislation. The United States stands fourteenth in the list of civilized countries which have taken up the problem. New Zealand, which has had woman suffrage longer than any other country, stands at the top of the list and has greatly reduced her infant mortality. Great Britain also has been in the front rank in this movement.

present maximum tax of 73 per cent
—65 per cent surtax and eight per cent normal on large incomes, is impracticable in times of peace and cannot be successfully enforced.

the income tax or it will go the way

income tax reduced where they are in excess of twenty per cent."

Adams said that to lower the high taxes on great incomes would prompt the wealthy to invest in ordinary industrial securities not free from taxes and which would yield the treasury material revenue on tax returns,
while at present the high taxes were defeating their own purpose because

America's Santa Claus Is Appleton Resident

Toy Company of America Arranges First Showing of Its Product.

When us daddies and those of us old enough to be daddies were as young as our youngsters we firmly believed that Santa Claus maintained his home in the frozen north where the eternal snows provided a playground for his hardy reindeer. We pictured Santa Claus as an old, kindly gentleman, with long flowing white beard, twinkling eyes and dressed in a red suit, trimmed with white fur, topped off with a conical hat.

That was the conception of Santa Claus when Maggie and the rest of us were young.

Along with many other changes in this changing world, we have been obliged to revise our conception of old St. Nick and his habits. Investigation has shown that Santa Claus doesn't live in the frozen north, at least Appleton people don't think it is "frozen." The old gent has moved and is now making his residence in Appleton, but somehow the idealistic description which we learned in our youth seems to fit this modern Santa Claus. RAISE FUNDS FOR GIRLS' GAGE TEAM

Kaukauna High School Pupils Will Stage Carnival Next Wednesday.

A carnival will be given by Kaukauna high school Wednesday at the auditorium. The proceeds are to be used for the purchase of sweaters for the girls' basketball team.

The "main tent" of the carnival will be a dance with music by a Kaukauna orchestra. Side shows will consist of the usual stands for vendors of popcorn, peanuts, candy, ice cream and the like. Fortune tellers will be present to reveal the past, present or future of the inquiring student.

At a mass meeting last week at the high school, Stanley McCarthy, president of the Athletic association, assured the backing of the boys of the school. Isadorth Norton and George Vander Heiden spoke for the student council, and the faculty, represented by Miss Brown and Miss Tessie O'Keefe, said that they would do their best for the success of the carnival.

Both students and members of the faculty are on committees to arrange for the affair.

SECOND ANNIVERSARY OF CROSSING THE RHINE

Two years ago today, Friday Dec. 13, the Appleton soldiers who served in the Thirty-second division, crossed the Rhine at 7:30 o'clock in the morning. The boys marched to Herfischbach, a distance of twenty-two miles. The day was similar to this, the only difference being that it was raining. The soldiers were on their way to the Coblenz sector assigned to the American forces.

REPEAT YULETIDE PAGEANT TONIGHT

Congregational Christmas Play Drew Record Attendance Sunday.

Several hundred people were turned away Sunday afternoon at the First Congregational church when the "Pageant of the Nativity" was given by the combined choirs. The auditorium was packed to the doors, almost an hour before the exercises started and those arriving after 3:30 o'clock were obliged to return home.

The pageant is to be repeated at eight o'clock Monday evening. Tickets will be issued up to six o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. to members of the church and Sunday school. They will be given first opportunity to gain admission. Enough seats will be reserved to accommodate ticket holders, who will be admitted between 7:15 and 7:30 o'clock. After that hour the remaining seats will be free to anybody.

Those who witnessed the pageant Sunday afternoon term it the most gorgeous and most impressive Christmas exercise ever shown in Appleton. Its music, costumes and theme were exceptional and told the story of the birth of Christ in a new and novel manner. The presentation is under the direction of Prof. Carl J. Waerman. Mrs. E. E. Dunn, H. L. Post, William Wright and Miss Doris Brenner.

THE FOREIGN TRADE CORPORATION

The first real rift in the overcast sky of industry, commerce and agriculture is the launching at Chicago Saturday of the Foreign Trade Financing corporation, which is to have capital of $100,000,000 and credit power of $1,000,000,000. The purpose of the organization, which represents all lines of business, commerce, finance and production, is best stated in the resolutions adopted by those who brought it into being:

Extension of credit by the corporation should be confined to countries where there is a stable government and where there is an assurance of integrity of purpose.

Operations of the corporation should be confined to financing for the benefit of future foreign trade.

The first limitation is obviously for the protection of the corporation against the perils of revolution and debt repudiation which still are a potential factor in the European situation. That it would exclude Russia from the operations of the corporation is apparent. Whether it would apply to Germany is debatable. Doubtless if the United States supports the peace treaty Germany will receive its benefits.

The second limitation is to prevent unloading upon the corporation of some of the large commercial debt already owed America by Europe, estimated at from three to four billions. These credits are mostly held by seaboard banks and have become a heavy drag upon American credit in general. There are also in New York and other eastern banks extensive credits on acceptances covering goods for export which have not yet been moved because of the collapse of Europe's buying power. Probably the corporation will extend its assistance to the moving of this heavy accumulation of products in eastern ports, which has contributed materially to backing up the waters of business. It would seem that this is the first step necessary to the clearing of the ways and of reducing congested commerce and production.

The export problem is one which must be solved before the United States can return to the full tide of prosperity. We must make it possible for Europe to buy our surplus production. It would be incomprehensible if we did not permit Europe to lean upon us temporarily for the many things she needs. The United States came through the war practically unscathed. Its economic resources and its productivity were vastly increased. It is in a position to supply the world, and Europe's requirements caused by war's impoverishment and devastation are alone tremendous, and should absorb the major portion of our surplus for years to come. It would be a paradoxical situation indeed if the United States did not, with all its wealth and capacity, avail itself of this great opportunity to serve the welfare of Europe as well as its own good. If it were purely a humanitarian demand upon us we should respond, but it is more than humanitarian for it invites large pecuniary returns.

Had the United States promptly subscribed to the treaty of Versailles and entered the League of Nations on some basis, there is every reason to believe the present foreign trade dilemma would never have arisen, because the guarantees of peace would have been such as to sustain credit accommodations of one character or another, but the exploitations of American politics had to be satisfied first, and so we find ourselves for the time being in the economic doldrums. National political stupidity is responsible for much more of present disturbed business conditions than the people realize or than business will admit.

The Foreign Trade Financing corporation is comparable to a life-saving crew. It has come into the field because something had to be done to relieve the paralysis of European credit. It will help to repair the damage done by politicians. It is not too much to expect, we think, that it will prove to be the entering wedge for prying loose the barriers holding back American exports and stagnating production. Its organization ought to have a most healthful effect upon business throughout the country, and it should be one of the chief factors which, after the first of the year, are looked to to revive commerce and industry. There are growing indications that the pendulum has reached the bottom of the swing and that an upward turn is at hand.

BONDS AT PAR

A good many well-intentioned people seem aggrieved because the government has not maintained Liberty bonds at par. They seem to think the United States has broken faith in some way. This attitude appears to spring from that style of reasoning which thinks that government is all powerful. All it need do is pass a law or make a ruling and the thing is done.

But we know that values are not maintained in that manner. One way to maintain Liberty bonds at par would be for the treasury to buy in at par all bonds offered to it. Assuming that the government has the money (which it has not) is it not plain that the government would soon own all the bonds which are now selling below par? In other words, it would have to redeem all the Liberty bonds at once, or as many of them as would force the issues up to par. If the government had the means to do this, it is plain that it need not have issued any bonds.

It could, perhaps, make them legal tender for all debts public and private by thus making them into money, they would be at par. But would not this be an inflation of the currency to such an extent that the actual value of the bonds expressed in commodities would be at least as low and probably lower than before?

Or the government could issue irredeemable currency with which it could take up the bonds at par, as fast as they were offered. It would seem this would only inflate the currency again.

Possibly there are other ways of maintaining the Liberty bonds at par. Probably the reader has a plan or remedy. But money and finance are complicated affairs. The problems they present are not always easily solved. It took the United States more than a century to evolve the Federal Reserve bank and up to that time its monetary system had always been unsatisfactory—in fact wretchedly adapted to its needs, a source of credit weakness, of panics and subject to all sorts of pernicious and artificial influences.

The experiences of the United States with currency and banking have been such as to many times raise the question whether anybody really has mastered the science of money, its use and effects.

Liberty bonds have been below par simply because the money they represent has been worth more in other forms of investment and use. They are not below par because of any question as to the security, for there is no security its equal. When money rates go down, and the economic readjustment has been completed Liberty bonds will go up, not only to par, but above par. It may take some years, but being the highest class investment there is in the world, they will eventually be in demand and because of their exemptions, terms, etc., will some day command a premium.

LUMBER CAMP STORY

By Roger W. Hanson

I met a man who had just returned from a lumber camp in the northwest. Among other things, he told me of a very interesting experience which he had one summer evening, in a nearby town. A crowd had gathered on a street corner to hear a man talk. The man was an infidel and was preaching that there was no God. My friend listened until the fellow finished and then asked the crowd to wait until he said a word.

"This was his speech,"

"Friends, I have heard of you what this stranger has said about there being no God. But let me tell you something. You remember the big storm and freshet which we had last week, that swept the bridge away and made it impossible for the farmers to get across the river? And you have heard how some couldn't row and came near going over the dam."

"Well, I was standing by the bank and saw a little boat drifting. In it was a man who had apparently lost an ear. The man was panic-stricken and was on his knees in the boat, praying for help. I heard his cries, swam out and reached the boat just in time to keep it from going over the dam. If I had been two minutes later, he would have gone to certain death."

"The man whom I saved, who was praying in that boat, is he who is preaching to you that there is no God."

"I say there is a God. Whose word will you take?"

SAYS TRANSPORT OWES HIM $3

San Francisco.—Mike Kennedy, able seaman, is chasing the U. S. transport Sherman. He says the Sherman owes him $3. He was left ashore, by accident, he says, at Brindisi, Italy. He beat his way across the Atlantic and across the continent to await the Sherman's arrival here. "It is the principle of the thing," says he, "they got me listed as a deserter and I ain't."

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

AS THE DEVIL QUOTES SCRIPTURE

"The reason why I wrote you about hardening of the arteries and heart disease," writes a reader, "was that I had just discovered my doctor had been giving me digitalis for a considerable time. Your valuable monograph on the subject confirms my opinion. You say, 'It is absurd to think of digitalis as helpful in heart disease.' I should not have taken it had I known what it was. Is it too late to change? What shall I do?" (D. W. W.)

This reader writes a letter which shows he is not without education. And yet the reader has jumped to a conclusion scarcely warranted by what I said of digitalis and arteriosclerosis and heart disease. The reader quotes me correctly, but makes a devilish job of it, like the Old Boy quoting Scripture.

In the monograph which our reader quotes I said this:

"There is a popular notion that certain remedies, medicinal or non-medicinal, are good for weak heart, hardened arteries, high blood pressure, paralysis, kidney trouble or nephritis, and other manifestations of cardiovascular disease. Certain remedies, medicinal and otherwise, are good for the patient; but we can assure you that no known remedy of any character whatever is good for all cases of arterial heart, kidney or brain trouble, due to cardiovascular disease. The remedy must be adapted to the individual requirements in every instance, and cannot be applied by rule of thumb. For instance, it is absurd to think of digitalis as being helpful for heart disease, or to think of massage as being good for arterial hardening, or to think of buttermilk or Bulgarian bacillus cultures as being good for auto-intoxication. These remedies will do good in Brown's case; have no apparent effect in Smith's case; and perhaps do serious harm in the case of Jones."

Now have I condemned digitalis or any other remedy for heart disease, or have I merely appealed to sound sense and suggested that digitalis or other remedy should be intelligently employed if employed at all.

Digitalis is a veritable sheet anchor in the treatment of many cases of heart disease, but like many other remedies powerful for good, digitalis is also capable of doing serious harm when used unintelligently when it is prescribed for a patient who has a fool for a doctor, or as we say in France, a patient who attempts to doctor himself.

Large doses of one of the physiologically tested (that is, proved active) preparations of digitalis often work wonders, but only a physician can judge how much, how often, or how long digitalis should be given. When the drug is to be continued any length of time, certainly its effects must be observed at regular intervals and the dosage determined accordingly, if the physician knows his business and mixes brains with his medicines. Digitalis is a valuable drug, but I repeat that it is capable of doing serious harm, although most persons who nibble at it are getting no effect whatever, save in imagination.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Day's Haul

I have written you three separate times, enclosing a stamp every time, and never had a reply. Are you saving up for your old age or something? (C. G. A.)

ANSWER.—No, for the Salvation Army. The Army gets perhaps two-thirds of the loose stamps contributed by readers who so thoughtlessly ignore the rules; the other third flutter out of letters onto the floor and, if not found by the office boy, they are no doubt burned with the daily accumulations of paper. If I had my own way about it, they would go for a fine of $3 for each loose stamp sent me. Try again, and please follow instructions, which call for self-addressed, self-stamped envelope. You will find I ain't half bad when you play my way.

Goat's Milk

One of your articles prompted us to get a goat for milk for our baby. Will you please advise whether it is necessary to sterilize the milk if we keep the goat clean and handle the milk in a scrupulously clean manner. (Mrs. J. H. D.)

ANSWER.—Do not sterilize or pasteurize. Goat's milk is cleaner than cow's milk; goats are not subject to tuberculosis and other disease conditions which affect cows and may be conveyed through cow's milk.

Corns Are Not Bunions

Some time ago you gave a recipe for corns and bunions, which I have heard highly commended. Would you mind reprinting it? (Mrs. C. H. B.)

ANSWER.—Thirty grains of salicylic acid dissolved in half an ounce of flexible collodion. Paint the corn daily for ten days. This may be used for warts—but don't apply it to a bunion.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Monday, Dec. 16, 1895

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Len Hamblin the day previous.

Dudley Ryan of Green Bay was visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Gertrude Somerville, who had been visiting the Rev. and Mrs. William Daffier, returned to her home at Marinette.

Many of the Wisconsin Malt and Grain company talked with parties in New York over the telephone and stated that conversation was as easy and satisfactory as though it had been with a friend in Appleton.

Mrs. Frank Prye of the Fourth ward fractured her arm by a fall on Pearl street the day previous while returning home from church.

The marriage of P. W. Austin and Miss Alice Butler took place at noon the day previous at the home of Jay B. Parish. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Paville.

C. W. Hinchliff sold to Whitman & Crider one-third interest in six lots in Whitman & Crider's Third ward addition for a consideration of $825.

The Eagle Manufacturing company put up a new warehouse building at the corner of Superior and Harris streets which was to be used as a general repository for its wares.

The vein of natural gas struck several days previous on the premises of Mr. Priest corner of State and Harris streets, continued to flow with unabated vigor. The strike was made at a depth of 34 feet.

McGill & Koerner, contractors, commenced work on the new plant for the manufacture of wire cloth on Laws street near the Wierck mill. The building was to be completed by March 1.

Chris. Roemer was elected president of Branch No. 6 of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin.

To Save 'The Redwoods.

By Frederic J. Haskin

San Francisco, Calif. — "Save the Redwoods before it is too late!" is now the popular cry of California. The whole state is up in arms over the wholesale destruction of these oldest and rarest trees which is now going on. If you are a loyal Californian—if you were born there, or if your loyalty is based merely on a two-weeks' visit which you have never been able to forget, or let your friends forget—join this "Save the Redwoods" campaign, and send an angry protest to your Congressman.

Whether you have been to California or not, you have heard of its redwoods, its monster trees, which are the oldest living things in the world. Those of the Sierras are already well-protected. In the Calaveras grove at Wawona, in the Sequoia National Park and General Grant National Park, the giant trees are safe for generations to come. But the beautiful redwoods of the Coast, smaller of girth but taller even than their Sierra cousins, are entirely without protection.

Through the heart of some of the finest groves of the Coast redwoods, the state of California built its coast highway—one of the most glorious highways ever conceived by man. For several miles you bowl along under a giant sequoia archway so old an elderly that it makes the motor achievements of the 20th century appear smart but insignificant. Yet the very building of this road which has made it possible for motorists to visit the redwoods, has resulted in their destruction. For a good road and motor trucks have made the timber marketable, and the owners of the trees have lost no time in converting them into lumber.

Today everyone who travels over this highway is heart sick at the thought of the certain ruin that awaits the entire stand of redwoods unless sufficient funds are raised to buy the timber lands along the road and turn them into a state or national park.

Only a Few Left

"Not such a great deal is left to be saved," explained the Secretary of the Redwoods League, in discussing its campaign. "It is not such a great task that faces us, and the mills are reducing it every day. One mill is working within a hundred feet of the state highway. In the very heart of one of the most beautiful remaining groves, the most beautiful remaining grove of the Coast, the redwoods are being cut down by the motorists to beware of falling trees."

There are only a few miles of redwoods along the state highway, not more than a dozen at most," he continued, hunting through his desk for a map that would show their exact location. "You go along for some distance on a beautiful road, shaded by oak and pine trees. Then, all at once, the road dips sharply into the shade of tremendous trees that stand in straight columns 300 feet or more in the air. They are 80 feet or more in girth. The Sierras, but graceful and beautifully proportioned."

The contrast between one of these groves and the stretches of desolation where the lumbermen have been at work is terrible. The world must have lumber, no doubt, and the redwoods must furnish their share, but there are thousands of redwoods elsewhere in the state that may be used for this purpose. To destroy the redwoods along the highway is simply a monstrous piece of vandalism that it will take 10 centuries to make amends for."

Perhaps it is the ancient tree-worshipper in every man that makes him love the redwoods. There seems to be something kindly as well as awe-inspiring about them, as if, having watched man for centuries, they had nothing but pity left for him.

The sequoia at one time covered almost the entire northern hemisphere, according to scientists, who have unearthed their fossil remains in Europe, Siberia, Alaska and Canada. And of all this tremendous stretch of sequoia forest that once encircled the world, only the California redwoods of the Coast and the Sierras have survived.

Among the latter, protected in the national forest, are 12,000 trees which exceed 10 feet in diameter. The General Sherman tree, the most celebrated of all, is 275 feet high, with a diameter of 35 feet. The Abraham Lincoln is a close second, being 270 feet tall with a diameter of 31 feet, and the William McKinley is 231 feet tall, with a diameter of 28 feet.

The Parks

The General Grant National Park, which is sometimes mistaken for the Sequoia National Park because it is separated from it only by six miles of mountain and forest, was created merely for the protection of one giant sequoia, the General Grant Tree, 264 feet high and 35 feet in diameter. Next to General Grant is his distinguished neighbor, George Washington, who is only 9 feet less in height and 6 feet less in diameter.

It is a matter of record that 3,000 fence posts, sufficient to build a wire fence around eight or nine thousand acres of land, were once made from one of these giant trees, and that was merely the first step in disposing of its great carcass. Next, 650,000 shingles—enough to cover the roofs of 70 or 80 houses—were taken from its trunk. This left hundreds of cords of firewood which had to remain where it was because it was too expensive to haul it down from the mountains.

With trees of minor but still tremendous capacity in their possession, the owners of the redwood tracts along the Coast Highway cannot be blamed for attempting to realize on the value of their timber lands. At present, according to the Secretary of the Redwoods League, much of the cutting has been held up by options secured in 1919 for the price of $60,000.

This money was provided by Humboldt County in California, which contributed $30,000, and by two private citizens, William Kent and Stephen Mathews, who gave $15,000 each. Unfortunately, however, the options will soon expire and the Coast redwoods will be wholly unprotected—unless the United States Government or the State of California chooses to come to their rescue and purchase them for one more national park.

THE QUESTION BOX

Q. Who invented the game of baseball? F. W.

A. Abner Doubleday, who later went to West Point, and ultimately became a major general in the United States army, is given the credit for originating the game in 1839. He and some other young men began to play a game they afterwards called baseball. One of these, named Cartwright, had the idea of a diamond to improve the game. "Two Old Cat" and "Three Old Cat" were still early forms of ball and were adapted probably from the English game of rounders.

Q. How deep do divers go and how long do they stay? F. S. P.

A. The navy department says that divers can reach the depth of 250 feet if equipped with the most modern apparatus, and can stay down about two hours.

Q. Can peanut butter be made at home? S. W. S.

A. With a meat grinder the process is simple. Roast the peanuts moderately, if they have been purchased raw. Remove shells and skins. Use finest plate on grinder and screw up tension until crank is hard to turn. If pulp is too coarse, run through grinder a second time. Add salt to suit taste, and some olive oil if desired.

Q. Where are the deepest oil wells in the world? C. R. T.

A. The geological survey says that three of the deepest oil wells are in this country and one in Germany. The J. H. Lake near Fairmont, W. Va., is 7,579 feet deep, the Goff near Clarkburg, W. Va., is 7,386 feet deep, the well at Czuchon, Germany, has a depth of 7,384 feet, and the R. A. Geary, near McDonald, Pa. 7,248 feet.

Q. Is colored hearing a disease? If so, is it a common one? F. H.

A. Colored hearing or chromaesthesia, is found quite as often among normal individuals as it is among neuritic persons and is no indication of illness. The association of certain colors with certain sounds is found in about one person in eight.

Q. What is the weight of a million $20 bills? J. L. G.

A. The treasury department says that a million paper bills, whether $1 or $20 bills, would weight about 3,000 pounds.

Q. What is the speed limit for automobiles in Buenos Ayres? C. R.

A. In the city of Buenos Ayres, traffic regulations require motorists to keep to the left of the road and drive not more than 14 kilometers, or 8.7 miles per hour. Outside the larger cities, no speed limit exists.

Q. Was the tower on Madison

Square garden modeled after some old world tower? H. E. V.

A. This tower, over 300 feet in height, was copied from the Giralda at Seville, Spain. The Giralda, now serving as the belfry of the cathedral at Seville, was built between 1184 and 1196 as a minaret of a mosque.

Q. What does "Maddonna" mean? T. B. S.

A. Madonna is an Italian word signifying "my lady." It is especially applied to the Virgin Mary and has become incorporated in other languages, particularly when used to describe the Mother of Christ in works of art.

Q. What is the origin of the word limerick? N. O. G.

A. The word is said to have been adopted as a name for a certain kind of nonsense rhyme because an old song current in Ireland, which had the same verse construction, contained the place name "Limerick."

Q. How did Lynchburg, Va., get its name? L. L.

A. Lynchburg was named after John Lynch, who founded the city in 1786.

Q. Is the expression "ish-ka-bibble" really Yiddish? P. F.

A. Students of Yiddish say that "ish-ka-bibble" does not belong to that language.

Q. Who originated state fairs? D. E. L.

A. Elkanah Watson, a prosperous merchant of Albany, New York, originated the idea of agricultural fairs such as the State of New York. Through his influence in 1815 the New York Legislature appropriated $10,000 a year for six years for premiums on agricultural products, and family manufactures. Since then such fairs have become quite general.

Q. Which birds have the longest and which the shortest lives? T. B. V.

A. The Bureau of Biological Survey says such birds as warblers, wrens, sparrows, are the shortest-lived birds; while swans, geese, eagles, and parrots are among the longest lived birds.

Q. What is acetic ether and how produced? J. R.

A. Acetic ether is more generally known as acetic ester. It is an ester of acetic acid, especially the ethylester or ethyl acetate, a colorless liquid of agreeable odor. The aroma of vinegar is partly due to its presence. Acetic acid is obtained by the action of metallic sodium on the ester formed by the union of acetic acid and ordinary alcohol. Acetic acid is the sour principle of vinegar, an acid composed chemically of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen.

PEN FACTORY IS STATE'S FINEST

Janesville Lauds New $400,000 Structure of Parker Company.

Janesville.—The new factory building erected by the Parker Pen company here at an estimated cost of $400,000, is declared to be the most modern factory in Wisconsin.

The five story building was made necessary by the growing of the company. Starting in 1918 manufacturing 1,000 pens a year, it has grown until the output exceeds 1,500,000 pens yearly, which keeps 300 people busy. The pens are sold all over the world.

Some of the features are smoking and lounging rooms for the men, which is believed to be an innovation in the industrial world, rest room for women furnished in wicker, a cafeteria which is opened at noon for luncheon for employees at moderate rates.

Instead of towels being used in the wash rooms, the hands are dried by a hot air machine. There are special lockers for bicycles and a garage for automobiles, where each car is turned around on a turn table which makes it unnecessary to back the car into the garage, which is built in the walls of the structure.

Necessity was the mother of invention for George S. Parker, inventor of the pen which bears his name, and president of the company. When a young man he was a telegraph operator and it was his sad experience with the primitive pens which prompted him to invent the pen which is now used by William Jennings Bryan, Premier Venizelos of Greece and a half dozen crowned heads of Europe and which is now one of the three leading pens of the country.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Radtke and son, Arthur, and Alvin Brockman visited friends at Oshkosh Sunday.

Just received navy blue wool velveting—50c yd. Geenen's.

CORO PEARLS

The Ideal Christmas Gift

When givers of old could find upon the face of the earth no jewels fine enough for gifts to loved ones, they searched the depths of the seas and came upon pearls.

Today, because human science has discovered and developed the secret of the Pearl, it is possible to bestow gifts of Coro Pearls, equalling in every detail of perfection the gems Nature produces, at such sensible prices that all women who love beautiful jewelry may possess these treasures.

OUR CHRISTMAS GIFT SUGGESTION is a Coro Pearl Necklace—because never before have these exquisite gems been so greatly admired or proudly worn by so many women of refinement and discriminating taste. Fine pearls, Coro pearls, bow to no fancy, no fashion. They are worn in all seasons.

A REAL CORO CHRISTMAS in your home means a yuletide of delight in the possession of a precious treasure that will hold its beauty and intrinsic value for all time.

There are Coro Pearl Necklaces in our Jewelry Department so wondrous in their fire and loveliness that the mere inspection of them will fill you with pleasure.

Keefe-Pardee Nuptials
At eight o'clock Saturday evening, Miss Mary Keefe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Keefe, Hannibal, became the bride of Alvin Pardee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pardee, 814 Commercial street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Harry Peabody at the home of the groom's parents in the presence of 50 guests. Miss Emily Dau played the wedding march.

The maid of honor was Miss Marie Dau of Appleton.

The bride was attired in a gown of pale pink satin and lace and wore a picture hat. She carried a bouquet of pink and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Loraine Pardee, a cousin of the groom, wearing a dress of pale blue satin and carrying pink and white carnations, was bride's maid.

The groom was attended by his brother, Harold Pardee. The home was decorated in pink and white. A supper was served after the ceremony. The evening was spent in dancing.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Alexander, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lums, Green Bay.

Bies-Miller Wedding
The wedding of Miss Anna Bies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bies, Little Chute, and Melvin Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, 534 Atlantic street, took place at five o'clock Saturday evening at the home of the groom's parents. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. F. L. Schreckengberg in the presence of about 25 relatives.

The bride wore a dress of blue satin and embroidered georgette and a corsage bouquet of ophelia rose buds.

Miss Catherine Briggs of Appleton, the maid of honor, was attired in a gown of black velvet. The bride's maid was Miss C. Swinkel of Little Chute, who wore a blue dress. Both the bride's attendants wore corsage bouquets of ophelia rose buds.

Lawrence Bies, Little Chute, and George Froening, Appleton, attended the groom. The home was artistically decorated with ophelia roses and smiles. A six o'clock dinner was served following the ceremony to about 25 relatives. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Bies, Little Chute.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller will live at 534 Atlantic street.

Sorority Party
Phi Mu sorority entertained active pledges and friends at an informal dancing party Saturday evening at Elk Club. Valley Country Club Orchestra furnished the music. A lighted Christmas tree adorned the center of the floor and wreaths, evergreen and bells were used freely in the decorations.

The men found the names of their partners for the favor dance inside bags of candy which were on the tree. Mrs. G. E. Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schweitzer, were chaperones. Among the out of town guests was Miss Myra McGinnis, Waupaca.

Christmas Party
Final arrangements have been completed for the big Christmas party which the Woman's Club will give Tuesday evening at the Armory. Mrs. Joseph Koffend, Jr., is chairman of the entertainment committee, which has arranged a program of novel stunts and features. There will be no admission charge to this party.

Mrs. A. G. Meating will have charge of the refreshments. It is expected that a large crowd will attend this party as every member of the Woman's Club has been invited.

Monday Club
The Monday club meets with Mrs. J. B. MacLaren, 512 Oneida street, Monday afternoon. Roll call will be answered with something concerning Eliza Lucas. Mrs. F. M. Johnston will give a synopsis of "The Minister's Wooing," and Mrs. R. C. Mullenix will read from "Old Chester Tales." Paper will be read on the "Biography of Harriet B. Stowe," and "The Biography of Margaret Deland."

Charity Ball
Arrangements have been completed for the charity ball to be given at Elk hall January 1 by the Moose Men's and Ladies Aid society. The proceeds will go to the Jewish orphan home at Cleveland, Ohio. Valley Country Club orchestra will furnish the music. A large attendance is expected from all parts of the Fox River valley.

Sports Council Meeting
The Sports Council of the recreation department of the Woman's Club will have an important meeting at seven o'clock Tuesday evening at the club rooms. Plans will be made for the Christmas dancing party. The meeting will close early in order to allow the members to attend the Christmas party of the Woman's Club at the Armory Tuesday evening.

Losers Entertain
The dormitory men's volleyball team of the second and third floors of the Y. M. C. A., will entertain the team from the fourth and fifth floors at a 6:30 o'clock supper Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. The second and third floor team was defeated by a squad from the upper floors last week in the association gymnasium.

Surprised on Birthday
Mrs. John Brown was surprised by 20 couples Friday evening at her home, Lake Road, the occasion being in honor of her 25th birthday anniversary. Cards and games were played and prizes were won by Clifford Tierney, Arthur Hawley and Miss Violet Vander Linden. An oyster supper was served.

Children's Program
Pupils of Third ward school will present a Christmas program for the entertainment of the Parent-Teacher's Association at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at the school house. Fifth Ward school children will give a Christmas program at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening before their parent-teacher's association.

Postpone Meeting
The music department meeting of The Woman's Club, scheduled for three o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Vocational school, has been postponed. The change was made because of the concert of the Woman's Club Chorus which comes Thursday evening. A number of the members of the department are also members of the Woman's Club Chorus.

Mission Society Meeting
The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Methodist church will meet at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. Edith Wright will have charge of the devotional program and Mrs. D. O. Kinsman will speak on "Community Life." The monthly missionary tea will be served at six o'clock.

Westminster Guild
Mrs. L. C. Sleeper, 657 Union street, will entertain the circle of Westminster Guild at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening.

Repeat Pageant
The "Pageant of the Nativity," which was presented by the combined

Sister Mary's Kitchen

When windows have to be washed in winter, add some alcohol to the water and there will be no difficulty about freezing. A measuring cup, one-half pint, of alcohol to a quart of water is a good proportion to use. And cold water is easier on one's hands than warm.

Choose a sunny day and follow the sun around the house as much as possible for the window washing. A spongy skin makes the task short and cleans the glass beautifully.

Menu for Tomorrow
BREAKFAST—Sliced bananas with cereal, scrambled eggs and bacon, toast, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Tongue salad, hot rolls, caramel custard, tea.

DINNER—Roast pork, potatoes, baked with meat, apple sauce, mashed turnips, French endive with French dressing, jellied prunes, marshmallow sauce, coffee.

My Own Recipes
All light colored meats should be cooked very "well done." Pork especially must be thoroughly roasted to be digestible. Thirty minutes per pound is usually required for roasting a loin roast of pork.

1 cup cold cooked beef tongue
1-2 cup cold boiled potatoes (diced)
1-4 cup sour apples

choirs of Congregational church to a capacity audience, will be repeated Monday evening at the church. Tickets may be secured at the Y. M. C. A. from two until five o'clock.

Kitchen Shower
Delta Gamma sorority will have a kitchen shower at the chapter rooms, 460 Eldorado street, Tuesday evening. Dinner will be served to members after which initiation of a candidate will take place. The rest of the evening will be devoted to a Christmas party.

Athena Party
Athena Literary society of Lawrence college enjoyed a Christmas party Friday evening in the Athena room of Carnegie Library. One of the features of the party was the appearance of "Santa Claus" who distributed gifts. Each of the members was invited to escort a friend.

Wedding Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sieth were pleasantly surprised by 16 friends Sunday evening at their home on Oneida street, in honor of their wedding anniversary. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games. Musical entertainment was also provided. Dainty refreshments were served.

Brotherhood Banquet
The Men's Brotherhood of the First Baptist church will have a banquet at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in the dining room of the church.

Forester Card Party
The weekly schaffkopf party of the Catholic Order of Foresters will be held Monday evening at Forester home. Prizes will be awarded the

1-3 cup cooked beets
1-3 cup cooked carrots
1 tablespoon minced parsley
French dressing
head lettuce

The tongue and apples should be cut in smaller pieces than the vegetables. Wash and dry the leaves of a head of lettuce. Line a salad bowl with the outer leaves and mix the heart with the salad. Mix the ingredients with a lightly seasoned French dressing and serve from the salad bowl.

CARAMEL CUSTARD
4 tablespoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons water
1-3 cups milk
2 eggs
2 tablespoons brown sugar
few grains salt

Melt the first amount of sugar with the water over a slow fire till a clear sirup is formed. Warm custard cups and put an equal amount of caramel into each cup, turning cup so that the sides are coated with sirup. Beat eggs slightly, add milk, sugar and salt and pour into cups. Set cups in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven till custard is set. The water must not be allowed to boil. To serve turn custards out onto small plates and sprinkle with chopped hickory nuts.

winners. The regular meeting of the Foresters will be held Tuesday evening at the home. Routine business will be transacted.

Civic Dept. Meeting
The Civic department of The Woman's Club will meet at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Vocational school. Dr. D. O. Kinsman will address the department on the "Organization and Work of the State Legislature."

Birthday Party
A party of friends pleasantly surprised Uno Werner, 1113 Ryan street, Sunday evening, in honor of his birthday anniversary. Mrs. George Carley and Walter Miller won prizes at five hundred. The evening was spent in playing cards and with music, followed by a supper.

Licensed at Menominee
Two Outagamie county couples were issued marriage licenses at Menominee, Mich., recently. They were John B. Huhn and Hazel J. Huse, Black Creek; Louis Bauernfiend and Rose Kepner, South Kaukauna.

Travel Class Meeting
The Travel Class will meet Monday with Mrs. Samuel Plantz, 545 Union street, as hostesses. Mrs. Harry Peabody will read a paper on the "Christmas Customs in Scandinavia" and Mrs. John Stevens will discuss "Sports and Pastimes."

School Program
The Spring Brook school, district No. 4 Cicero, will give a Christmas program at eight o'clock Saturday evening, to which the general public is invited. Miss Myrtle Reetz is the teacher.

Elks to Initiate
A class of candidates is to be initiated into the Elks lodge following a game supper at the club rooms Wednesday evening. The supper is to begin at 6:30 o'clock. An out of town speaker is scheduled to give an address.

Prepare for Initiation
St. Alloysius Young Men's society of St. Joseph church will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening at St. Joseph hall. Part of the important business to be disposed of is preparation for the initiation of about 30 new members.

Moose Meeting
A social meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose will be held at Moose hall Tuesday evening. Lunch will be served.

BETTER THAN WHISKEY FOR COLDS AND FLU

New Elixir, Called Aspirinal, Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter if Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two-minute cold and cough reliver, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful, new elixir so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to stop into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.

APPLETON PEOPLE IN COLLEGE PLAY

Excellent Cast Is Selected for Christmas Sketch Tomorrow Evening.

A number of Appleton young women are taking roles in the play "Why the Chimes Rang" which will be given by the dramatic action class of Lawrence College at Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday evening, Dec. 14. The cast is as follows:

Holger, Norbert Roeder, Milwaukee; Steen, Miss Maura Barnes, Busnelles, Ill.; Uncle Bertel, Carl Windesheim, Kanosha; the Old Woman, Esther Struck, Appleton; the Rector, Edwin Johnson, Milwaukee; the Courtier, Irwin Johnson, Larsen; the Beautiful Young Woman, Eunice Slattengren, Chicago; the Scholar, Miss Helen Dittmer, Appleton; the Sweet Young Girl, Miss Dorothy Hackworthy, Appleton; the King, Paul Corr, Juneau; the Imperious Looking Man, Miss Marjory Ingraham, Menomonee; the Society Belle, Dorothy Curvelier, Minneapolis, Minn.; the Angel, Miss Mathilde Hariman, Appleton.

The play is under the direction of Miss Anita Gochsauer, member of the faculty of Lawrence college. Miss Gertrude Graves is directing the musical numbers which were especially arranged for the play. Frank Taber, Jr., will accompany the musical numbers at the organ.

"Why the Chimes Rang," is a beautiful play with the setting in the period of Louis XIV. The costumes are exceptionally good with really remarkable color effects. The lighting and scenic effects are all arranged by the students.

Miss Marie Puchner, Wittenberg and Edwin Johnson, Milwaukee, will give a humorous sketch, "The Two Lunatics." In the interval between the play and the sketch, Miss Alice Dillon, Oshkosh, a pupil of Prof. F. W. Orr, will give a reading, "The Gift of the Magi," by O. Henry.

SELECT BUILDING FOR SWINE SALE

Chamber of Commerce Assists
Duroc Jersey Breeders to Complete Plans.

Appleton is sure to have the Duroc Jersey swine sale next month. The chamber of commerce has secured the new Langstadt-Meyer service building on Washington street, and plans for the auction can proceed without delay.

It was a difficult matter for the Outagamie County Duroc Jersey Breeders association and the chamber of commerce to find a building large enough to house the swine pens, seat 300 people or more, and yet be heated and conveniently located. The promoters had about given up the idea of coming here when August H. Meyer came to the rescue and offered the use of the building. It will be almost ready for the company's own use by that time.

Prof. M. H. Scott, Madison, hog expert of the college of agriculture, was in Appleton Monday to assist the association officers and Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the First National bank to select 30 pure bred gilts for the sale. Care was taken to choose the best animals from farms of the county.

Much enthusiasm is shown by the breeders, because this is the first time the Duroc Jersey association has conducted a public sale. The hogs are offered at the farmers' own price solely to further breeding of pure bred stock in the county. The desire to extend the movement virtually insures the success of the sale, officers state.

Teachers of Tarrant-co. Texas, will live in an apartment house erected by the county, for $5 a month.

Mexico is beginning to divide the large ranches of Sonora, and will sell the subdivisions to small farmers.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat if You Feel Backache
or Have Bladder Trouble—
Take Glass of Salts

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

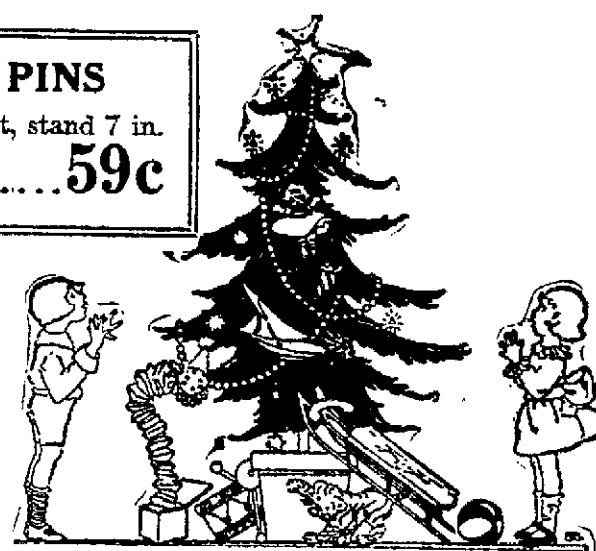

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

PIRATES AND REDS ARE TIED FOR LEAD

Only Seven More Games to Be Played in First Half of Elk Season.

Standing of the Teams
Team	W	L
Pirates	6	0
Reds	6	0
Athletics	4	2
Giants	4	2
Cardinals	3	3
Browns	2	4
Sox	2	4
Yankees	1	5
Tigers	0	6
Cubs	0	6

Pirate and Red teams of the Elk Bowling league, each with a record of perfect attendance in the six games, are tied for leadership after the first six games. Athletics and Giants are resting in second place with four victories and two defeats. The standings indicate that these teams whose members appear most regularly for the contests are leading. The Cubs and Tigers, with no victories to their credit, have the poorest attendance averages. Johnson is the leading individual bowler with an average of 187 for the first six games. He is closely followed by Rector whose average is 155. S. D. Ratliet is far in the lead with highest individual scores, counting 224 and 213 in two games. Wagner's score of 77 is the lowest and Shapiro has the low average with 105.

JACK AND BILL WIND UP WORK FOR THEIR BATTLE

By United Press Leased Wire. New York.—Just enough work to keep on edge, was to be undertaken here today by Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, and Bill Brennan, who meet tomorrow night in a 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden.

Both finished training, with a short period in the afternoon before large crowds of spectators. Both look to be in perfect condition.

The reserved seat sale has already passed the $100,000 mark, promoter Richard announced, while the receipts are expected to go beyond $200,000.

Dempsey is to get $100,000 while Brennan gets $35,000.

PAINE CAGE TEAM WINS FROM INTERLAKE SQUAD

Paine Lumber company basketball team defeated the Interlake team at Armory G Saturday evening, 16 to 12. The game was one of the fastest played by the local squad this year and was witnessed by a large crowd.

PLAY FIRST GAMES IN HIGH SCHOOL TOURNEY

The senior and the junior teams of the high school will meet in the first game of the interclass basketball tournament Monday afternoon in the gymnasium of the high school. The second game, which will begin immediately after the first, will be played between the representatives of the sophomores and freshmen classes. H. R. Decker and R. Grant, members of the faculty, will alternate as officials.

Considerable enthusiasm has been shown in the school. Each class has taken a section of the gym and has decorated it with its class colors. Special class yells will also be used for the games.

CUE CHAMPION STAKES HIS TITLE ON MATCH

By United Press Leased Wire. Chicago.—Bob Canfield, San Francisco, three cushion billiard champion, will stake his title in the final game of the championship tournament when he meets Johnny Layton, of St. Louis, here tonight.

The winner in addition to getting the championship trophy and $1,500 prize money.

CARPENTIER MAY MEET MORAN NEXT FEBRUARY

By United Press Leased Wire. London.—Georges Carpentier, European heavyweight champion, and Frank Moran, the American who finished Joe Brickett in two rounds here, practically been slated for a twenty round bout here in February, it became known today.

Nearly two-thirds of the 300,000 words in the English language are of Latin origin.

FULTZ FIGHTS TO HOLD POSITION

International League Magnates Meet in New York for Annual Scrap.

By United Press Leased Wire. New York.—Action in large chunks is expected here today when the magnates of the International league get together in their annual meeting.

Division of sentiment on the draft and reelection of President David L. Fultz will cause a show-down between two bitter factions.

Claiming that by refusing to sell its players and escaping the draft the Baltimore club has a major league, five of the other clubs have announced their intention of fighting for the restoration of the draft with the majors.

Arthur Irwin, former manager of the Rochester club, is being pushed as a candidate for the presidency by the anti-Fultz faction.

While Internationals are engaged in battle, activity on another front will be seen here. Some trades are expected to be announced among the National leaguers.

The Giants are reported to have offered the Cincinnati Reds $150,000 for the pick of their flock, similar, it is thought, at either Eddie Roush or Heinie Groh.

President Hermann demanded players and McGraw offered Bennie Kauff for Greasy Neale.

President Grant of the Braves, also let it be known that Rabbit Mananville was on the market.

Mike Donlin, old Giant star, and Big Ed. Walsh, the old "iron man," are here hunting managerial jobs.

COMMISSION WILL HELP LANDIS RULE

Baseball Magnates of All Leagues Gather in New York for Conference.

By Henry L. Farrell. By United Press Leased Wire. New York.—Baseball, large and small, was gathered here today to legislate new life into the game.

Judge Landis, supreme head of the game, committee of the major and minor league and flocks of magnates were gathered for a glimpse of the new national agreement.

In conformity with their custom the magnates would not make public the terms by which they hope to coax the minors back into their official family.

Garry Herrmann, former chairman of the defunct national commission, and the composer of the defunct national agreement, was running around this morning with an armful of documents and papers containing the new agreement.

Herrmann would not comment on the plans he had incorporated in his new agreement, but he intimated several things.

It is certain that the minors will be asked to agree to the restoration of the draft and that the price will be increased from the old rate of $2,500.

Advisory Board

It seems probable also that the government of the game will be further safeguarded with the appointment of a commission to act in an advisory capacity with Judge Landis.

The original Lasker plan, the suggestion of which nearly tossed the American league on the rocks, called for the appointment of a three or four member commission to include a director in chief, a representative of the two major leagues and the minors.

Believing that the minors will demand representation of some kind on the governing body of the game, the majors are now ready, it is understood, to come back to the commission and let the minors choose a representative to sit with representatives of the majors on the advisory committee to Judge Landis.

The commission would have no vote, the various representatives acting merely as a sort of attorney for their constituents in the supreme court of the game.

Clashes clothing Judge Landis with far reaching power in administering all baseball affairs are also said to have been embodied in the new agreement along with elaborate provisions for the eradication of gambling.

Nothing definite can be accomplished at the meeting today, as the agreement, even if approved by the committee of the minors, will have to be voted on by every league in their circuits before it becomes effective. The minors today merely act in the role of "what are you going to do for us?" and then look at it.

REALTY TRANSFERS

Among the real estate transfers recorded at the office of registrar of deeds Saturday were: Henry Klein, Jr., to Nicholas Griesbach, et. ux., land in Grand Chute, consideration, private; Charles Lyon to George J. Gabriel, land in Liberty, consideration, private; William Lapp to Donald Lapp, 120 acres in Dale, consideration, private.

CHEESE COMPANY IS EXTENDING BUSINESS

The Jaquot Cheese company is extending its field of operation by branching out to neighboring cities. It recently purchased the cheese business of the Fairmont Creamery company of Waupun, where it will maintain a branch house and within the last few days has purchased F. L. Forward's cheese business at Soma, which it will also conduct hereafter. The company's main office is located in Appleton.

The Jaquot Sales company is the name of a new company connected with the Jaquot Cheese company which was established less than a month ago. Carl Gerlach, a member of the new company, who looks after the sales, has already established a trade in Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Kaukauna and New London.

ATTENDS MEETING OF TRUST COMPANY MEN

Henry W. Tuttrup, secretary of the First Trust company, spent Friday at Milwaukee attending a conference of the trust section of the American Bankers association in Wisconsin. Matters of common interest to the trust business were up for discussion. There was practically a unanimous attendance of trust company officials. They were addressed by Oliver C. Fuller, Milwaukee, president of the First Wisconsin Trust company, and Charles Morris, vice-president; also Judge Emil Baensch, former lieutenant governor of Wisconsin, who spoke on "Courtesy and Dower."

The business sessions were held in the directors room of the First Wisconsin National bank. A banquet was served at the Milwaukee club.

For Young Men

THERE'S a snap about the styles of Eagle Shirts that young men fancy. It's in the original patterns created by the makers, the novel weaves from their own looms, the color blend. It's in the shaped waist, the trim cuffs, the way that attached collars fit as if they were a vital part of the shirt.

Young men are quick to appraise such niceties. That is why Eagle Shirts are such universal favorites of those who want more for their money than just a shirt.

See our window display of the new Fall Patterns. They're worth while.

WEIGLE IS HEAD OF FOOD OFFICIALS

Inspectors of Middle West to Work for Uniformity in Legislation.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)
Madison—George J. Weigle, dairy and food commissioner for Wisconsin, has been elected president of the Dis-trict Association of American Dairy and Food Officials. The district com-prises the state food officials of Wis-consin, Minnesota, Iowa, North Da-kota, South Dakota, Montana, Colo-rado, Nevada, and Nebraska, and has been formed for a two-fold purpose, to work for standard laws regulating foods and for co-operating in investi-gations.

It has been the practice for each state to handle its own food problems and the officials have realized that there has been much expensive dupli-cation of effort. The new association, which is formed by the officials in the states having similar interests, will work together. If Wisconsin is in-vestigating one class of food and pro-secuting a case, the other states will abide by the decisions reached in the Wisconsin case. Just at present Colo-rado is fighting a legal battle with a large baking powder manufacturer, and were it not for the new orga-nization the food officials in each state would be doing the same. However they will base their rulings on the court decision in the Colorado case.

The matter of standard laws is also of importance, according to Commis-sioner Weigle. In Wisconsin the law requires butter to contain 82 1/2 per-cent butter fat, while the Minnesota and Iowa laws require only 80 per-cent. This makes the butter manu-facturers of Wisconsin work at a dis-advantage which favors their Minne-sota and Iowa neighbors. It is pro-posed in the new association to work for uniform laws regarding all dairy and food products, so that no state will have an advantage over the other.

The first meeting of the new associa-tion was held in Sioux City, Ia., last

OLEO INDUSTRY HURTS FARMERS

Madison.—Increased consumption of substitutes for milk products, es-pecially the use of oleomargarine for butter is pointed to by K. L. Hatch of the college of agriculture as a much greater factor in lowering the price of milk than is the unsold condensed milk supply. He enumerates seven

BRUNSWICK Method of Reproduction

Critical music lovers prefer The Brunswick

It is always a certain friend, an enthusiastic one. We find, who hears The Brunswick and then compares it.

The ear is quick to appreciate its superior tone. The eye is quick to note its finer cabinet work. And the mind is quick to reason out why Brunswick is a final-type instrument in every way.

The Brunswick Method of Reproduction has brought new standards in the phonographic art—better tone, truer tone. Tones hitherto lost are now ever-present.

Every hearer is convinced. That is the reason for the great popularity—that accounts for The Brunswick winning such headway in a field where limits were supposed to have been reached.

Since The Brunswick came, they all say "Plays all records." But just you find out how they do it and then investigate the Brunswick way.

things that Wisconsin farmers should do to help prevent disaster in the dairy industry.

Stop the use of "oleo," he first cau-tioned, following with the advice to use more milk on the farm. make more butter, "cull" out unprofitable cows, advertise farm goods to in-crease consumption, fight "filled" milk, and don't buy unprofitable con-densers.

"The present decline in prices can not be charged to over production of milk," Prof. Hatch says, "and it is doubtful if it is due to over produc-tion of condensed milk, though this is generally assigned as the cause. What may be regarded as the most striking influence of the policy of substitution during the war is the enormous in-crease in oleomargarine consump-tion."

The first notable effect of the war on the dairy industry in Wisconsin, according to Prof. Hatch, was the in-creased consumption of milk. Dur-ing the last five years, population has increased 7 per cent, while consump-tion of milk has gone up from 9 to 10, he stated. Of our total milk sup-ply he says we use 35 per cent as but-ter, 20 per cent as city milk, 5 per-cent as cheese, 5 per cent as con-densed milk, 5 per cent as ice cream, and 30 per cent on the farms where produced.

"During the war period," he said, "importation of vegetable oils greatly increased. The fat obtained from coconut importations also very greatly exceeded the amount of butterfat contained in our dairy products. From this and other evidence, it is clear that our dairy products surplus is re-sulted largely from the use of coconut oil as a substitute for butterfat."

Labor Wants Peaceful Settlement Of Problems

John P. Burke Discusses Industrial Problem Before Immense Audience.

American people met and settled great issues as they arose. It is true that required agitation, much bitter feeling and in the case of slavery a great civil war before right won. I believe that eventually right always wins.

And so I believe we are going to be able to adjust our industrial problems in accordance with principle and justice. We certainly will adjust these problems that way if the wish of American labor prevails.

American labor wants to see these questions settled peacefully. American labor abhors violence, bloodshed and class hatred. Our methods are civilized ones. We rely solely upon agitation, education and organization.

Such was the message delivered by John P. Burke of Port Edwards, N. J., president of the International Brotherhood of Pulp and Sulphite Workers of America in his address on "Labor's View of the Industrial Problem" at Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening.

It was the sixth meeting of the People's Forum and perhaps the most auspicious. Labor was dignified and lent dignity to the occasion. The middle section of seats was reserved for members of unions who turned out in a body. The seats of the main floor were filled, as well as a large portion of those in the balcony.

Fred E. Bachman, president of the Trades and Labor Council, presided. Miss Doris Brenner gave a brief oration after which Dr. H. E. Peabody offered prayer. Community singing was led by Chester Roberts.

Prompt! Won't Grip Dr. King's Pills

Mr. Burke in the early part of his address, I want to make it perfectly clear that I am one of those that have great faith in the ability and good sense of the American people.

"I believe that the American people can be relied upon to meet great issues in an intelligent manner. And therefore I am here tonight with a message of optimism and hope instead of one of despair."

"I am optimistic because I know today is better than yesterday and I am hopeful tomorrow will be better than today. My friends, the world is getting better. I say this with full knowledge of the fact that the greatest war in the history of the world has recently closed."

"Before anyone gives way to despair because of the unsettled condition now existing Mr. Burke urged that he make a study of the great changes that have taken place for the better within the memory of men and women now living."

"Think of the great questions the American people have settled and settled right during the last sixty or seventy years," he said. Among them he mentioned slavery, enfranchisement of women and election of United States senators by the people.

"The organization that I have the honor to represent, the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers, is affiliated," said Mr. Burke, "with the American Federation of Labor. The American Federation of Labor is an organization of wage earners, men and women, with a membership of 4,500,000. Among these are miners, carpenters, mechanics and thousands and thousands of other working men and women comprising the varied industries."

"Outside of the Federation of Labor and working in close harmony with it are the four leading railroad brotherhoods. There are also several other independent organizations whose policies are similar to that of the American Federation of Labor, and thus we have both inside and outside 5,500,000 organized workers."

Enlist Brain Workers
"Many workers until recent years have held aloof from this organization, but we are now enrolling bookkeepers, stenographers, letter carriers, postoffice clerks, news writers, school teachers and many others whose work depends more upon brain than brawn, and these brain workers are standing shoulder to shoulder with brawn workers."

"I realize that there are thousands that view with alarm this development of the trades and labor man. There are thousands who look upon organized labor as a menace to society, who particularly denounce labor agitators. Many people believe, or think they believe, that if it were not for the labor agitator everything would be well with the world and industrial peace would reign forever more."

"George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, and Patrick Henry were agitators. Wendell Phillips, John Brown and Abraham Lincoln, who might be termed emancipators of a race, were agitators."

"As surprising as it seems the labor movement is not a new scheme and has made its appearance in all countries when a certain stage of industrial development has been reached. For instance 100 years ago there was no great national labor movement in America. The American Federation of Labor was organized in 1881 and started with a membership of 50,000. It is true that there were national organizations prior to this date, but the real growth dates from the close of the civil war.

"Now, then, why was there no great labor movement 100 years ago? People worked in those days and why not a labor movement? I presume they worked harder than now. Certainly they worked more hours, but they did not work in factories. There were no railroad unions 100 years ago for the reason that there were no railroads. There were no telegraph or automobile organizations 100 years ago. I wonder why!

"The history of the labor movement in any country is inseparably intertwined with the industrial development of that country."

Development of Unions
"I wish briefly to trace America's industrial development. In order to understand the labor movement it is absolutely necessary to know about the industrial history of our country. During the colonial history, practically until the middle of the nineteenth century the agricultural industry was the dominant type of American life. Even up to 1850 it was 55 per cent of the nation's wealth."

"Production was going on for use rather than for profit. Farmers raised their own corn and meat and wool from the sheep was made into clothes. Hides from cattle were tanned and made into shoes, and the farmer manufactured his own tools. During that period of our history there were no capitalists and comparatively few wage earners. There were no trace of labor unions."

The speaker stated that this condition prevailed until the discovery of steam power, the cotton gin and other great inventions which brought about what is known as the industrial revolution in the latter part of the eighteenth century. Steam power made possible the factory method of producing goods which gradually drove hand made goods out of existence. With the factories came the development of the laboring classes and the big industries like the steel trust employing 200,000 workers.

Being unable to get justice the workers looked around for some means of securing it and discovered that in unity there is strength. They organized naturally because economic necessity compelled them to do so. "Get rid of the agitators, shout the superficial observers. Well let us get rid of the agitators. I am willing to help. The name of the real agitator is injustice."

Started in England
"The modern trade movement started in England. Why in England? Why not in Germany, in France, in China or Ireland. If it started in Ireland we could understand it because Ireland is always ready to start something. The labor movement started in England because it was in England that the factory method first started. England was the workshop of the world."

"When the unions first organized in England parliament passed a law making it a crime for working men to organize. In this country many cities and towns have enacted ordinances that have the same effect. During the steel strike many cities in the strike zone in Pennsylvania enacted local ordinances which denied workmen the right of free speech and assembly. The workers were not allowed to get together. When you take away from labor free speech you might as well say you cannot organize."

"It is talked in some places that the trade union is to be destroyed. In some cities the destroying process has already begun. I would like to say that you cannot destroy that which is indestructible. When you have destroyed the hearts of men, the desire for something better; when you have succeeded in crushing the aspirations of the human soul; when you have so paralyzed the workers that they beg like the man with the hoe, then and not until then have you a chance to destroy the trade unions movement."

The speaker said that we have industrial problems because machine production has made this a great manufacturing nation. "I think you will agree with me," said Mr. Burke, "when I say that the workers are not happy and contented today. There is reason for this, and that reason is my opinion is because workers do not receive social and economic justice."

"There are certain things that workers should have. Among these is the right to work. I do not say that the world owes every man a living, but I do say that the world owes every willing worker an opportunity to earn a living and they are not getting it today." Mr. Burke also held that every workman was entitled to an eight hour day and to the right of having his grievances adjusted.

BICYCLE RIDER STRUCK BY AUTO

Man Is Injured But Name Is Not Learned—Car Wrecked in Collision.

An unknown bicycle rider was injured Saturday evening when struck by an automobile owned by Michael Wolf, South Kaukauna, and driven by Walter Gerend, South Kaukauna. The machine was near the intersection of College avenue and Union street when it skidded, striking the bicyclist and throwing the man to the pavement. He was said to have been injured and was taken to a physician's office for treatment. The bicycle carried no headlight, and was badly smashed.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rock and daughter, 893 Pacific street, narrowly escaped serious injury in a collision at the corner of North and Rankin streets Sunday afternoon. They were proceeding west on North street when a Buick touring car bearing Minnesota license No. 82,416 crashed into their machine, backed away from the scene and speeded away. The front end of the Rock automobile was badly smashed. Mrs. Rock was badly shaken up and the daughter suffered an injury to her knee. The police are trying to ascertain the identity of the unknown driver.

SOCIAL AGENCIES SHOW GOOD SPIRIT

Quick Response Follows Appeal to Clear Lists of Families Benefited.

Eagerness to cooperate in furthering the plan for constructive holiday giving to the less fortunate families of Appleton has marked the response to the appeal made by the social agencies for a clearing of lists of families benefited by organizations. Several agencies compiled readily by sending their lists to the exchange established temporarily with the Home Service of the Red Cross. Other organizations have responded by looking further into the family conditions of those whom they have been aiding.

Instead of giving the customary baskets for the holiday season, one organization has volunteered to make two dozen flannel night garments. It has been discovered the vital need in many places is for clothes. Every one of the two dozen "nights" has been arranged for through the new cooperative holiday plan.

Those in charge are well pleased with the success of the enterprise started a week ago. With so little time before the holiday season, the task of avoiding duplication and preventing inappropriate and impractical giving would have been next to impossible without the cooperation of the agencies. One of the biggest benefits of the plan according to social workers is to call attention of all interested people to the need for constructive rather than mere charitable help.

An appeal is being made to those who wish to remember the less fortunate at this time to phone 878 to learn of what would be most acceptable to about a dozen families still unprovided for. In no case will an assignment be made without investigation.

ROYAL LA ROSE, SCRIBE OF BOY SCOUT TROOP NO. 1, WAS HONORED WITH THE TITLE OF STAR SCOUT BY THE MERIT BADGE COURT OF HONOR AT ITS MEETING FRIDAY EVENING AT THE SCOUT HEADQUARTERS.

LaRose was examined by Gustave Keller, Dr. M. J. Sandborn and T. H. Ryan, who passed him in first aid, life saving, personal and public health, athletics and pioneering. He also passed five other tests, which made him a life scout as well.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY, SALE OF FANCY ARTICLES AND FOOD AT VAN WYK'S STORE WED., DEC. 15.

MRS. M. C. CROWLEY, of Los Angeles, who says Tanlae completely restored her health after everything else, even a change of climate, failed to help her in the least.

"I came to Los Angeles trying to regain my health, but I didn't get any better, even in this wonderful climate. Until I began taking Tanlae," said Mrs. M. C. Crowley, who lives at 1041 South Hill St., Los Angeles, the other day.

"I was so weak and broken down that I was hardly able to get about at all. I suffered terribly after my meals on account of my food souring and gas forming on my stomach, and I would feel so tight that I could hardly get a good breath. My appetite left me and I was so nervous that I couldn't stand the least noise and I never knew what it was to get a good night's sleep."

"I tried dieting for more than two years, but that didn't help me any. For I was continually getting worse all the time and actually lost twenty-five pounds in weight."

"All the different treatments and medicines I took failed to do me the least bit of good, and I finally came to the conclusion that my condition would never be any better."

"I know from my personal experience with it that Tanlae is a good medicine, for as soon as I began taking it, I began to improve. Why, it is perfectly wonderful the way I have gained in strength, weight and every other way, and I now feel like a different woman entirely."

"I have a fine appetite and my nerves are in such perfect condition that I sleep soundly every night. I never suffer from sour stomach and gas forming after meals and, in fact, all my troubles have been gradually disappeared since taking Tanlae."

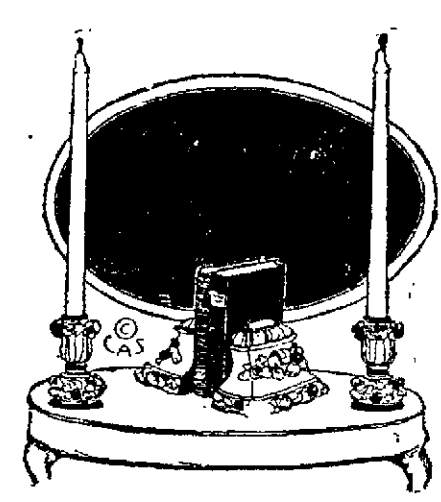

"I feel so thankful over my improvement that I am glad to have the opportunity to recommend Tanlae to everybody."

Tanlae is sold in Appleton by John E. Vogt; E. O. Brown, Shiocton; Dr. M. Sattler, Bear Creek; H. E. Abend, Dale; R. E. Lowell, Little Chute.
